Last Girls Club
Issue no 6 Summer Solstice 2022
Sex Work is REAL Work Issue
Welcome to your curated horror experience
Red Light Special
by Victory Witherkeigh
An ex-dominatrix shares how she got in the business of teaching BDSM to the masses.
Identity Theft in the CAM World
by Jessica Parant
The movie CAM 2018 explores the dangers of identity theft and stalking in the virtual world.
Cities of the Dead
Hourly No Tell Motel
LGC explores a modern sex temple in the guise of a seedy motel on Figueroa in LA.
The Rabbit Hole: Oldest Profession Indeed.
by Eda H Obey
Sex Work is one of the earliest forms of commerce and helped establish civilization.
PINK LIPSTICK
PLUS SIZE

Summer Issue 2022 no. 6 Sex Work is REAL Work

$9.00

Welcome back lovers. This season Last Girls Club explores sex work, the pitfalls, the legalities, and the joy that can be found in a job well done. Imagine a world where instead of a culture of exploitation and criminalization, sex trade would be exactly that: a trade of services for money, without legal or moral censure. Workers could unionize, have health insurance, and full autonomy of their own bodies. Persecution by sexually repressed institutions and individuals could be prosecuted by the law and provide protection for the sex workers. Assault and murder would no longer be considered acceptable outcomes of "risky lifestyles". Serial killers would no longer have open hunting grounds on our streets of individuals that law enforcement ignores. Sex education would lose its taboo nature and humans could become informed about their bodies and celebrate their desires in safe environments with trained individuals to guide them. Incels would realize they have outlets to build their self-esteem and feel seen. The social ripples of this new way of thinking in the paradigm could change the world in ways we can't even imagine, if we only weren't too scared to try. Well, here at the Last Girls Club, we aren't scared to dream crazy dreams and try new things. Jump in. Let's get weird. Thank you for sticking with us. See you in the Fall. And as always, may the shadows embrace you and the monsters fear you more.

Add To Cart